TRIP DETAILS

Join us for our annual trip to Vermont in the fall.

We are off to a new destination, Plymouth, Vermont, to visit the Calvin Coolidge Museum.

Our first stop today will be in the quaint town of Quechee for our included lunch at the Quechee Inn at Marshland Farm. Built in 1793, the inn was originally the home of Colonel Joseph Marsh, Vermont's first lieutenant governor. Since that time, the historic residence has been expanded to include twenty-two guest rooms, three suites, and a fine dining restaurant. We will enjoy a soup du jour and sandwich buffet, including all-American potato salad, potato chips and inn-baked cookies. Coffee and tea complete the meal.

Our next stop of the day is the Calvin Coolidge State Historic Site, which was the birthplace and childhood home of Calvin Coolidge, the 30th president of the United States. The homes of the Coolidge family, their relatives, and friends edge the small village green, joined by the 1840 church, 1890 schoolhouse and cheese factory, pre-1835 store with post office and dance hall, and historic agricultural structures and barns. There are exhibits at the museum and education center, and then we progress to the village where staff members are available to assist you on your self-guided tour. There are also two museum stores as well as the retail shop at the Plymouth Cheese Factory in the village. Trip is held rain or shine. Itinerary is subject to change.
